

From the President

Celebrate Columbus Square

"We're very pleased to announce that Columbus Square is receiving its second beautification award in the Northland Area. The Northland Community Council will be presenting the award on January 29 at their annual awards banquet.

The Northland Community Council is a group with representatives of each of the local neighborhood civic associations, and is one of the most highly esteemed organizations of its kind in Central Ohio. To receive an award from such a well-respected group is indeed an honor. This is further evidence of our success in improving Columbus Square to better serve the community.

We are also pleased to announce the addition of a new handbag store and framing shop to Columbus Square. We continue to focus on attracting tenants to fill our vacancies as a top priority.

We will be changing the banners on the parking lot lights soon. We have centered on a theme that continues to promote Columbus Square as a neighborhood center.

We have received a lot of positive press lately, including a nice article in the Columbus Dispatch. We've received a lot of compliments, and we will continue to look for ways to promote our efforts in making Columbus Square the best center it can be.

Transamerica Building Company has nearly finished the new Blue Sky Island Bar at the Bowling Palace, and we're confident that it will become a popular destination for bowlers and non-bowlers alike. It has an upscale décor consistent with our image as "the country club" of bowling centers, and has a heated patio with outdoor seating. If you haven't seen it yet, I encourage you to stop by and check it out. It is unique in the Northland area, and a class addition to Columbus Square.

Please continue to "talk up" the shopping center to your friends, family, and customers. Word of mouth is the best advertising, and your efforts to join us in promoting the center are greatly appreciated!"

- George Hadler, President
The Hadler Companies

Building Success

Who Is Transamerica Building Company?

Transamerica Building Company is a division of The Hadler Companies and is the construction force behind Columbus Square

Shopping Center. Transamerica constructed the first wing of Columbus Square in October 1980, and continues to be vital to the Shopping Center's success. Nearly all of the buildings have been built by Transamerica and the company has also performed the remodeling of many of the individual storerooms.

Retail and industrial projects of all sizes have been a specialty since 1962. Contact Bill Koniewich, President or Brad Koniewich, Vice President at (614) 457-8322.